

A&G 23

Our company stands for Quality, Excellence and Innovation supplying beautiful, unique Natural Stones.

A Natural Passion for Stone

A&G 23 is a young, dynamic company with many years experience working in the stone industry, We have always operated with the deep passion that is the driving force guiding us day after day in our quest for excellence and quality of service. A&G 23's philosophy has always been to innovate, not only in providing a wide range of materials but especially in choosing them for their unique features. We offer new, exclusive natural stones, some of the purest and most unusual that display the primeval beauty of their original patterns and designs and their wonderfully varied forms and colour, becoming of great value and inspiration to architects and designers .

The A&G 23 team is composed solely of enthusiastic experts devoted to Natural Stone and all its hidden secrets and extraordinary characteristics, which can be cleverly exploited to produce the most beautiful expressions of style and elegance. Each expert team member contributes to the added value of our Brand with their experience, their own personality and professional ethics, providing the client with a strong relationship based on trust and solid values, which have become the distinctive features that are part of the Company's DNA : integrity, transparency, honesty, expertise and reliability.

All-round Excellence

Our company has perfected an efficient organization made up of experienced specialists, who are able to look after the entire production process, from researching raw materials, processing them, through to distributing them from our own large Showroom facility. Our Stones are selected directly from the various extraction basins, where quarrying is organized by skilled managers, who take into consideration both market trends as well as the special and exclusive materials, which periodically characterize certain parts of the extraction seams. As well as affording a wider choice, it allows new stones to be discovered that are remarkable in design and general appearance, which A&G 23 can offer customers exclusively.

The Culture of Beauty

Researching, selecting and supplying materials must take into special account the diverse needs relating to each architectural and interior design project, giving overriding priority to the aesthetic value and purity of the stones, turning each slab into a fascinating, uniquely beautiful work of art. Many new materials become attractive alternatives to more traditional materials, providing creatives with the stimulating inspiration to adopt an unusual and exclusive approach to each and every project they undertake.

The Land of Marble

A&G 23 was born in Carrara, the Homeland of Marble. Immediately adopting our own strategic vision, which has become an element of distinction, the company is conscious of the fact that excellence in the application of Natural Stone arises primarily from the quality and exclusivity of the stone materials used. Operating according to this fundamental premise, at A&G 23 we work in close synergy with expert workshops and architectural firms, researching precious natural stone, as well as studying the processing methods and applications of each different material.

By concentrating our energies on taking an immersive journey into the varied world of Natural Stone, we have discovered all the secrets of this amazing Material, from fine craftsmanship to the amazing world of numerical control technology that has paved the way for new expressions of style, which only a few years ago would have been difficult to implement. On this intense journey of Knowledge, exploring the fascinating, distinctive features of Onyx stone, where the translucent variety lends itself to interesting and creative backlighting applications, the company has, as a result, also decided to specialize in this material and research the purest varieties for its special Collection.

Experiencing exponential growth in a short period of time, our Company has consolidated its leadership in the market by establishing lasting partnerships with several extraction basins in the world, to ensure a steady supply of top-quality materials and be able to offer its Customers a Collection of the finest, unique, exclusive Stone. A large, bright and airy Showroom inside our new headquarters, houses the Collection of stone materials including Marble, Onyx, Travertine and Limestone, some of which are exclusively distributed by A&G 23
